A. JOINT RESEARCH GOALS

I. Intermediary key activities:

I.1. Round Table, organized on November 27-29, 2011, at Iasi, attended by all project team members. Fifteen scientific papers and a conference were presented during this event. The main discussion topics addressed aspects related to research methodology, concepts used, stage of research. We also addressed the strategy for project activities coordination. The agenda of the event and abstracts of presentations can be found on the project website (www.ponticgreekcities.ro).

I.2. National Symposium “Poleis in Pont and Propontis in Hellenistic and Roman eras”, organized on September 27-28, 2012, at Bucharest, attended by all team members and a number of guest specialists. Twenty scientific papers and a conference were presented during this event. The main purpose of this activity was to present the partial project-related research outcomes, with the subsequent publication of the presented studies in a collective volume (see below V.1). By organizing of the scientific meeting at the Vasile

Parvan Institute of Archaeology from Bucharest we went for increasing of the national visibility in achieving the objectives assumed by attracting and involving a greater number of researchers from Romania. The agenda and abstracts of presentations can be found on the project website (www.ponticgreekcities.ro) in both, Romanian and English.

I.3. International Symposium “Interconnectivity in the Mediterranean and Pontic World during the Hellenistic and Roman Periods” (organized in partnership with the National Museum of History and Archaeology of Constanta, Waterloo Institute for Hellenistic Studies, Ontario/Canada and the cultural complex Callatis, Mangalia), July 8-12, 2013, Constanta, attended by all project team members and by 33 foreign researchers from 16 countries. The main purpose of this activity was to present the partial project-related research outcomes (at half way stage of the project), with the subsequent publication of the presented studies in a collective volume (see below

V.4). Secondly, by organizing of this scientific meeting we aimed to increase the national and international visibility in achieving the objectives assumed by attracting and involving a greater number of researchers from the country and abroad. We mention here that, in the former project proposal, one of the major objectives aimed our involvement in international dialogue relating the Polis-

topic in Hellenistic and Roman times. Thus, we managed to build a network comprising specialists interested in research on the field of Black Sea in antiquity, a network which could lead us towards obtaining EU funded projects. The agenda and abstracts of the presentations can be found on the project website (www.ponticgreekcities.ro).

I.4. International Symposium “Mobility in Research on the Black Sea Region (PN-II-ID-PCE-2011-3-0054 and PN-II-ID-PCE-2012-4-0490 to H2020)” (organized in partnership with the Iași Branch of the Romanian Academy and the German Cultural Center of Iași), July 6-12, 2015. Among the project team members, the ‘Mobility’ conference brought together 35 scholars from Europe, Asia, and North America, willing to discuss aspects of political, social, cultural, and economic history in Greek, Roman and Byzantine times. The main purpose of this activity was to present the research results obtained so far and prepare these studies for publication in a collective volume (see below

V.7). This gathering reflects and exemplifies a tradition of fruitful collaboration between the Institute of Archaeology of Iasi with many academic institutions from Romania abroad. ‘Mobility’ provided plenty of opportunities not only for exchanging updates related to recent literary, epigraphic, numismatic, icono-graphical and archaeological discoveries, but also to share perspectives, methods, and frameworks from which to look at ancient texts and artefacts, whether to gain a better understanding of the past, or to make ancient objects or histories more meaningful for us today. Such meetings firmed up the timeline of the topic, and helped to establish a permanent discussion within a research group focused on the Black Sea region in the ancient world. In that way we gradually developed the idea of an interdisciplinary research network of Romanian and foreign scholars (especially historians, epigraphists, classical archaeologists and numismatists), which would engage in some large international projects. We would like to emphasize that one of the goals underlined in the project proposal is to develop of an international network on topics related to Black Sea within Greek and Roman times. The agenda and abstracts of the presentations can be found on the project website (www.ponticgreekcities.ro). On this occasion, a brochure was printed (55 copies x 60 pages) containing the event program and abstracts of communications in electronic form which can be found at the link below:

<http://www.ponticgreekcities.ro/media/files/Conference%20brochure%2C%20Iasi%2C%20July%205>.

II. Foreign study visits (documentation and dissemination). There were undertaken 41 foreign trips in order to conclude the documentation for the assumed objectives within the project, respectively, the dissemination of results – in Austria, Belgium, Bulgaria, Czech Republic, Denmark, France, Germany, Greece, Italy, Poland, Russia, Serbia, Slovenia, Turkey, Ukraine. The exact dates related to the trips are comprised in the expenditure record sheet loaded and can be checked on the online platform of UEFISCDI (including scientific reports and activities). There are also kept in the Romanian Academy – Iasi Branch archive, as an authorizing officer institution. Regarding the dissemination activity during foreign travel, see below and section IV.

III. Domestic study visits (documentation and dissemination). Sixty seven project-related domestic trips were undertaken (to institutions and archaeological sites in the country). The exact dates related to the trips are comprised in the expenditure record sheet loaded and can be checked on the online platform of UEFISCDI (including scientific reports and activities). There are also kept in the Romanian Academy – Iasi Branch archive, as an authorizing officer institution.

IV. Participation in national and international scientific events (dissemination): Project research outcomes were reflected in 76 presentations made by the team members at the following events:

V.1. Poleis in the Black Sea: Inter-Pontic Relations and Local Production, ed. by Florina Panait Bârzescu – Iulian Bîrzescu – Florian Matei-Popescu – Adrian Robu, Publishing House Humanitas: Bucharest 2013, 464 p. (including 28 plates)

Poleis = P&M I

] . The work comprises the studies presented during the Symposium from September 27-28, 2012, organized within the project PN-II-ID-PCE-2011-3-0054. The fact that our work was published by a prestigious Romanian publishing house accredited by CNCS is an eloquent proof for the successful accomplishment of the stated interim project goals. By publishing this work we set up a new collection – “Pontica et Mediterranea [P&M]”, ed. by Victor Cojocar. This collection was meant to support studies on history of Antiquity, epigraphy, classical archeology, numismatics and iconography, at a national level and increase their international visibility. [
BCOSPE I = P&M II

] . The book is considered an important instrument by many experts in history and epigraphy of Black Sea during the antiquity. See, e.g., G. Kantor, review in Bryn Mawr Classical Review (<http://bmcrr.brynmawr.edu/2015/2015-04-41.html>): "This publication will be an indispensable tool for anyone working on the Northern Black Sea and adjacent regions in antiquity, and every serious research library should get it and Cojocaru's subsequent volumes. As a member of the SEG editorial team working on this region I shall be using it constantly"

]. It comprises the papers based on the presentations made at the International Symposium from July 8-12, 2013, organized within PN-II-ID-PCE-2011-3-0054 project. The book was meant as an important step towards accomplishing the major project goal – publication of a collective work, which would reflect, in a more complex and compelling way than before, the external contacts maintained among the urban Pontic communities (see below section B). V.6. Victor Cojocaru: Instituția proxeniei în spațiul pontic / Die Proxenie im Schwarzmeerraum [Die Proxenie], Mega Publishing House: Cluj-Napoca 2016, 340 p. The core of the work was an exhaustive corpus of relevant attestations for development of the “Proxenia” institution in the Black Sea region. Greek texts and translations into Romanian are came together. The catalog is preceded by some preliminary observations, followed by detailed comments. Corroborating of the statistical data with comprehensive analysis of documents contributes to a better understanding of the ancient history of the Black Sea, of the “Proxenia” institution, and of the external relations Greek cities throughout antiquity. V.7. The collective volume Mobility in Research on the Black Sea Region. The Proceedings of the International Symposium, Iași, July 5-10, 2015 [Mobility]

, edited by Victor Cojocaru and Alexander Rubel, in collaborations with Diana Stah and Thibaut Castelli, Mega Publishing House: Cluj-Napoca 2016, 582 p. (including 72 plates). This volume collects 23 papers authored by leading experts from seven European countries, Turkey, and Canada. Multiple aspects of mobility between individuals, cities and regions of the Black Sea in antiquity are studied, such as cultural, political and economic networks, interactions between Greeks and Barbarians or how the ancient authors highlight themes of distance and knowledge or of good life and leisure in the polis

. All of the contributions address recent literary, epigraphic, numismatic, icono-graphical or archaeological discoveries, and also provide opportunities to share perspectives, methods, and frameworks from which to look at ancient texts and artefacts, whether to gain a better under-standing of the past, or to make ancient objects or histories more meaningful for us today. At the same time, this book proposes to understand the Black Sea as a discrete unit. Rather than dividing it among nations and states, new gene-rations of scholars are uncovering the ways in which what happened in one part of the sea was intimately linked with the fate of every other part of it. VI. Webpage (dissemination)

Our project website (www.ponticgreekcities.ro) has been continuously updated being accessible in its Romanian and English versions. The site provides data about the project itself, team members and more details reflecting the activities carried out by us. Our project web address can be accessed by most popular search engines (Google, Yahoo, Ask, Bing,

Duck Duck Go,

Yippy,

Dogpile, Yandex, The Internet Archive

AltaVista, Infoseek, Coozilla, Dogpile, Lycos, Metager, Mamma, etc.). The project website address was indexed on important specialized web pages like wihs.uwaterloo.ca, www.megarika.ro, arheo.ro, antichitate.myforum.ro, roman.yapoga.com, sistem.acadiasi.ro, uaic.ro, www.vebidoo.de, www.yasni.fr, en.cyclopaedia.net, spartokos.wordpress.com, www.bulentozturk.sakarya.edu, etc. Our data indicate that the website has had at least 1053 visitors and was viewed around 63200 times. George Bilavschi is in charge with running and updating the project web page.

B. INDIVIDUAL PROJECT GOALS (In what follows, we are going to present the extent to which project goals were achieved (as reflected in the proposal). Please note that more details in this regard can be found on the project website, where you may consult Publication list, intermediary reports, together with abstracts of presentations from the scientific meetings, organized within the project and mentioned in Part A 1 of the present report). Concerning the research results disseminated during international scientific events, see above Section IV.

I. To obtain an overall picture of the external relations of Pontic Greek cities through exhaustive research – repertorying, mapping, commenting - the epigraphic and literary information (Victor Cojocaru, Ligia Ruscu, Mădălina Dana, Adrian Robu, Livia Buzoianu). We accomplished our study on inter-Pontic relations, including the relations with non-Greek populations from hinterland. This was reflected in two book author (BCOSPE I and Die Proxenie 900 pages altogether) and 37 published studies which are 751 pages altogether, as follows:

II. To identify a possible model for the integration of the west coast of Pontus in the Roman Empire (Florian Matei-Popescu). The successful accomplishment of the goal was reflected in the publication of the three studies, totaling 69 pages, as follows: Statutul juridic și teritoriul Histriei în epoca romană, in:

, p. 203-233;

The Western Pontic Greek Cities and the Roman Army

, in: Außenbeziehungen, p. 173-208;

The Horothesia of Dionysopolis and the Integration of the Western Pontic Greek Cities in the Roman Empire

, in: Interconnectivity, p. 457-471.

III. To prepare a comprehensive study regarding ceramic containers used for the import and export of certain products: olive oil, wine, fish products (Andrei Opaiț). The successful accomplishment of the goal was reflected in the study Production and consumption of wine and fish in the lands between the Carpathians and the Black Sea (2 nd

century B.C – 3

rd

century A.D.).

Beginning with May 1, 2013, Andrei Opaiț stopped his collaboration with the team working in the PN-II-ID-PCE-2011-3-0054 project.

IV. To make a comprehensive study regarding the production and trade of glass vessels in the Black Sea area in Hellenistic and Roman era (Costel Chiriac & Sever Botan). The successful accomplishment of the goal was reflected in the publication of an author book (Vase de sticlă, 363 pages) and in three studies, 94 pages altogether, as follows:

Sticlăria elenistică și romană din

Pontul Euxin între producție și import

, in: Poleis, p. 278-318 & 439-451;

Roman Glass Vessels in the West Pontic Area (1 st

–3

rd

Centuries CE). General Remarks

, in: Interconnectivity, p. 525-553;

State of the Art and Prospective Research Directions on Hellenistic and Roman Glass from the Pontus Euxinus

, in: Mobility, 101-115.

V. To elaborate a comprehensive study regarding tiles production workshops in the Black Sea in the context of Hellenistic coroplastic and establish the relationship between the Pontic workshops and models of the Aegean world (Iulian Bîrzescu). The successful accomplishment of the goal was reflected in the publication of the three studies, 36 pages altogether, as follows:

Teracote și vase plastice cu reprezentări zoomorfe din

sanctualele cetăților grecești din Marea Neagră

, in:

Poleis

, p. 414-427 & 462-463;

Some Remarks on Hellenistic Terracotta Offerings in the Western Pontic Sanctuaries

, in: Interconnectivity, 269-280;

Umdeutungen von Kultbildern in den griechischen Kolonien des Schwarzmeergebietes

(co-author Florina Panait Bîrzescu), in: Mobility, 531-540.

VI. To elaborate a comprehensive study regarding Pontic colonies relations with the Aegean world as reflected in the sculptural art (Florina Panait Bîrzescu). The successful accomplishment of the goal was reflected in the publication of the three studies, 54 pages altogether, as follows: Modele iconografice comune din cetățile pontice în epocile elenistică și

romană

, in: Poleis, p.

393-413 & 457-461;

Wandering Cult Images between the Aegean and the Black Sea Cities in Hellenistic and Roman Times: from Dionysos Kathegemon to Dionysos Karpophoros

, in: Interconnectivity, p. 393-413;

Umdeutungen von Kultbildern in den griechischen Kolonien des Schwarzmeergebietes
(în colaborare cu Iulian Bîrzescu), in: Mobility, 531-540.

VII. To elaborate a comprehensive study concerning the movement of goods in the western Black Sea basin, as reflected by the “commercial type” seals found in the Greek towns the area in Roman times (1st–3rd centuries A.D.) Research outcomes were presented in two studies, 41 pages altogether, as follows:

Trade Connections between Asia Minor and the West Pontic Area in the 4th Century CE. Some Sphragistic Considerations

, in: Interconnectivity, p. 299-330;

Sigillii dobrogene inedite. III

, in: Arheologia Moldovei 38 (2015), p. 147-156.

VIII. To elaborate a comprehensive study regarding trade relations of the West coast cities in Roman times based on numismatic discoveries (Lucian Munteanu). The successful accomplishment of the goal was reflected in the publication of the three studies, 86 pages altogether, as follows: Legăturile orașelor grecești vest-pontice cu populațiile „barbare” în epoca elenistică. Evidența numismatică, in: Poleis, p. 358-392; The Hoard with Coins of ‘Huși-Vovriești’ Type Discovered in Huși (în colaborare Costel Chiriac

, in: Mobility, p. 541-581;

The Coins of the Eastern Pontic Greek Cities and the ‘Barbarian’ Populations in the Hellenistic Period

, in: Acta Musei Tutovensis (Bârlad 2016) 12.2, p. 27-39.

IX. George Bilavschi and Diana Stah – through continuous support offered to the project director in issues related to management – contributed to the accomplishment of remaining project goals. Based on their contribution a frame for collaboration of the present team members in a larger international context was created. What we mean here is the exploration of possibilities of continuing the current project PN-II-ID-PCE-2011-3-0054 with a funding scheme within H2020 (Horizon2020 Work Programme on the cultural heritage of maritime and coastal zones). At the same time, we focused on the changing dynamics of European Research Policies and their potential short- and middle-term impact on opportunities to reach future resources for our current research endeavors (PC8 – Cooperation, “Idei”, Capacities, and Science in Society). At this point we have already initiated a dialogue with some national and foreign partner institutions on the possibility to implement a European-funded project (Horizon2020 Work Programme on the cultural heritage of maritime and coastal zones ) which could bring the research endeavors of the current project to a new level. Likewise, we count on a similarly efficient cooperation we have had so far with the administrative staff of the

Romanian Academy, the Branch of Iasi.

To conclude with, we believe that – in full compliance with the objectives for stage 2013 (correlated with the goals accomplished during stages 2011 and 2012) – we managed to reach the major mid-term goals of our project, namely, publication of a collective work which would reflect, in a more complex and compelling way than before, the external contacts maintained among the urban Pontic communities. The collective volume mentioned earlier – „Poleis”, „Außenbeziehungen”, „Interconnectivity” și „Mobility” – is the best evidence in this respect. By organizing the international meetings (already mentioned at section A.I), which was attended by over 80 specialists from 16 countries and representatives of 46 different research institutions, we managed to convincingly announce our participation in an international prospective dialogue on the Greek polis in the Hellenistic and Roman era.
